Good source of information

Stress & Night time working

Great to see HE getting involved in such a serious Industry issue.

very good so far

Review the HE content and approach against what the Supply chain do to identify enhancements to this agenda built on best practice and learning

there needs to be one standard - raising the bar should be mandatory across the industry not optional

We conducted blood pressure drop in sessions with our occupational health provider

A really important subject which needs a high degree of collective industry support

Keep it up !

We need to ensure any campaigns are linked to the 5yr plan so that they all join up.

Fatigue Management

I think the dust and noise campaign should have been one or the other
